

Waterford Institute of Technology Recognition Event

Junior Achievement was delighted to hold a recognition event for WIT students. Forty six students involved in Junior Achievement programmes at WIT were honoured at the event. WIT's involvement with Junior Achievement Ireland has grown over the years. These 46 student volunteers have helped over 1,000 children across Waterford and Tipperary. The feedback received from WIT volunteers has been very positive with all having enjoyed the programmes and the interaction with the young students. Eight students from St Saviour's National School in Ballybeg, a school which has benefited from the programme, performed a sketch at the presentation, highlighting the impact Junior Achievement has had on their lives.

ABBOTT VASCULAR HOSTS VISIT FROM St. MARY'S PRIMARY SCHOOL

28 schoolchildren (aged 9-10) from St. Mary's Primary School, Irishtown, Clonmel visited Abbott Vascular in April with Alan Martin, (Engineer with Abbott) their business volunteer who had taught the Our Region programme in their classroom. Alan taught his last class on site in Abbott and the children had a fascinating tour of the facility followed by refreshments and presentation of their Certificates of Achievement.

Alan Martin Welcoming the students to the facility and the children asking many questions with regards to the warehouse.

Honeywell 'WOMEN IN CAREERS DAY'

Junior Achievement Ireland in conjunction with Honeywell hosted a 'Careers for Women Day' for senior students in the Presentation Secondary School on Thursday 13th March.

Six speakers from Honeywell who's occupations ranged from Occupational Health Nurse to Environmental Co-ordinator, highlighted the wide range of career opportunities that Honeywell offer. Esther Doyle and Sandra Keating (Presentation Secondary School) co-ordinated the highly successful day along with Denise Power of Junior Achievement Ireland. Speakers from Honeywell included Linda Gleeson, Amy Fahey, Aine Cleary, Emer Hayes, Lisa O'Callaghan and Therese Kennedy.

The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all students involved.
